'The U-2 Affair'
Will Be Serialized

Serialization rights to "The U-2 Affair," real-life spy thriller, have been acquired from Random House by the Sun-Times-Daily News Syndicate, Chicago.

The taut, fast-paced story will be released, beginning June 3, in 14 installments of approximately 1,500 words each, according to Robert A. Cooper, general manager of the syndicate. The story made its debut in hard covers May 19.

"The U-2 Affair" was written by Thomas B. Ross of the Chicago Sun-Times Washington Bureau and David Wise of the New York Herald Tribune Washington Bureau. It is a step-by-step description of events beginning with the take-off of Francis Gary Powers on May 1, 1960, on his ill-fated U-2 flight and culminating with his release Feb. 10, 1962, from Soviet custody.

The story is developed in strip-to newflash style. It is related with the terseness and urgency of a wire bulletin. Much new information is developed.
